Announcing the new

Dean for the College of Education

We are pleased to join with President Debow Freed at The University of Findlay in announcing the appointment of its new Dean for the College of Education, Dr. Alice G. Anderson. She holds an Ed.D. in Vocational, Technical and Special Needs Education from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, a Master of Science in Special Education from Radford University, and a Bachelor of Arts in Spanish from James Madison University.

Most recently, Dr. Anderson served as the Founding Director of the School of Teacher and Leadership at Radford University, where she is also the Interim Associate Dean of the College of Education and Human Development. She has served at Radford for over fifteen years and has been active in the greater educational community throughout her career. She has a stellar record of teaching, scholarship, and service.

The University of Findlay has entered a new era under the progressive leadership of President Freed and is currently the largest private higher education institution in northwest Ohio, with a budget approaching $70 million. The College of Education is accredited by NCATE and enjoys an excellent reputation.

This appointment is the result of a national search in which Jon McRae & Associates served as consultants to The University of Findlay.
